The DBF's 10th Anniversary

July 2011 marks the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Dispute Board Federation and our work is flourishing worldwide. New staff and Committee Heads, new locations, and new activities not just confined to Dispute Boards but also to the whole gamut of dispute prevention and resolution worldwide are within our ambit. We now advise companies, countries, and individuals in over 54 locations worldwide and hope to have continued measured growth over the next 10 years. To all of our supporters and friends we say thank you and to those we can help we welcome the opportunity.

This time of year is normally slow due to the summer break and various holidays and we use that period to set our priorities for the remainder of the year as well as re-dedicate ourselves to the tasks ahead. As you already know from last month's Newsletter the DBF Regional Advisory Councils, now under the command of Mark Tiggeman are being re-structured and we have now made one additional change and that is to establish a full time Director of Development.

This new role will be to move the DBF forward in various directions and in particular will help manage our growth over the next few years. We are pleased to announce that Ben Beaumont has accepted this role and we welcome his future efforts on our behalf. In addition to this new role as Director of Development he will continue as Chair of our Dispute Board Appointments Committee.

In the coming months we will have our annual book review of new and important titles in the construction and dispute board fields along with interviews with some of our members as to projects of interest worldwide.

For further information on any of these please contact Anne Eve our Programme Administrator at anne.eve@dbfederation.org

Have a wonderful summer.
